Renowned Islamic Scholars

Prof Dr Khalil Taoqar, Head Department of Urdu, Istanbul University Turkey, Sheikh Muhammad Ismaeel Al-Baseer, Sajjada Nasheen, Silsila Baseeria Morocco, Prof Dr Abdul Mughees Al-Baseer, Morocco, Sheikh Abdul Latif Teesa, Morocco, Syed Lakht-e-Hasnain Shah , Chairman Muslim Hands International UK and Hafiz Naeem ul Din were the guest speakers.

The Islamic scholars told that the rights, roles, and responsibilities of women are evenly balanced with those of men but are not necessarily the same. As Islam has granted individual identities to men and women, a constant comparison between the two is futile. Each plays a unique role to mutually uphold social morality and societal balance.

Muslim Women should follow the great personalities of Hazrat Syeda Khadija (SA), Hazrat Syeda Ayesha (SA) and Hazrat Fatima (SA) as role model.

Islam has an extensive tradition of protecting the civil liberties of women based on the guidelines set forth by Holy Quraan and Sunnah. Women are empowered with many rights and protections under Islamic law and are honored with a dignified stature in society.

The efforts of The University of Faisalabad for Women Empowerment in Pakistan are remarkable, they expressed.
